

DID INSPECTORS TAKE BRIBES?

Steinberger and Lion on Trial Before Excise Commissioners.

LIBENOW NOT TO BE FOUND.

But the Case Is Proceeded with on Complaint of William C. Behm.

"ANGEL" DENNETT'S TESTIMONY.

Swears Mrs. Libenow Told Him Her Husband Paid Inspectors for Favorable Reports.

The Excise Commissioners, with the exception of Commissioner Woodman, met shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning to hear the charges preferred by Agent Behm, of the Parkhurst Society, against inspectors of the Hotel Jerome, Steinberger and Edward Lion, alleging that they received bribes from saloon keepers.

The accused inspectors were represented by Otto Irving Wise, at whose suggestion Beth Sprague Terry, Commissioner of Accounts, was called as a first witness. He handed to the Commissioners a transcript of the testimony given by John Libenow and his wife, of 2 East Third street, before the Commissioners of Accounts, July 6.

When their testimony was obtained with difficulty, they alleged that they had paid the accused inspectors to influence their report in connection with Libenow's application for a license for the premises at 75 Second avenue, made in March.

Somewhat of a sensation was caused shortly after the opening of the hearing by the announcement that the Libenows—husband and wife—had disappeared. The announcement was made on the strength of the report of several sub-poena servers, who were unable to locate them.

Agent Dennett, of the Parkhurst Society, testified that at the request of Agent Behm, he investigated the charges and that when he went to the Libenow home, on Third street, the wife was alone and talked freely.

She told him that her husband had paid money to both Lion and Steinberger to influence them in making their reports on the application for a transfer of a license to 75 Second avenue.

In a short time the husband came in and chided his wife for telling the story. At the earnest solicitation of Agent Dennett they both then went before the Commissioners of Accounts and swore to the charges contained in the transcript.

The witness added that he had several agents scouring the city with subpoenas for the Libenows.

William C. Behm, who started the investigation, succeeded Agent Dennett in the witness chair. He denied being in the employ of the Parkhurst Society, but admitted that he sometimes followed their methods in his personal efforts to purify the city.

He said that in his wanderings about the city as a piano-player he heard of the bribery and called upon Libenow. Libenow told him that he had paid $10 to Inspector Lion, who had secured for him a license to sell beer.

He said that he had paid $10 to Lion and $10 to Steinberger, who had secured for him a license to sell beer. He said that he had paid $10 to Lion and $10 to Steinberger, who had secured for him a license to sell beer.

CAPT. EAKINS'S PLEA.

Actor J. B. Studley Tries to Defend the Hotel Jerome.

Commissioner Parker presided at the resumption of Capt. Joseph B. Eakins's trial at Police Headquarters this morning, for failing to suppress immoral houses in the Fifteenth Precinct, from Jan. 1 to Jan. 15, 1895.

The defense, which has many witnesses to testify, continued its case, calling as the first witness Special Officer Morris Cohen, of the Second Inspection District.

Cohen served under former Inspector McAvoy. He said in February last, at the request of Capt. Eakins, he was detailed to procure evidence against the house 127 West Third street. He told of the great trouble he encountered in obtaining this evidence.

He had done more or less work in the precinct for three or four days in the week ever since and during that time he had been solicited on the street only once.

Louis Hyams, who makes flowers at 38 West Third street, said that he employed thirty girls, and says that "there had been a change in the management of the house 127 West Third street, from Jan. 1 to Jan. 15, 1895."

He said that he had been solicited on the street only once.

By the way, he said, "I find that room 3 was occupied by various couples during the time you say you lived at the hotel."

Actor Studley was then more broken up than ever.

WANTS HIS FATHER'S MONEY.

Suit Involving the Estate of Type-Founder J. M. Connor.

Application was made today to Surrogate Arnold, on behalf of Archibald Connor, to compel the executors of the estate of his father, James M. Connor, to grant him an allowance.

James M. Connor died in 1887. Previous to his death he conducted the large type foundry at Centre and Duane streets.

By the terms of the will of his father, the children were to receive one-seventh of the estate.

Archibald Connor's counsel said today that the young man had received only $3,500 since his father died, and that since December he had not had a penny from the executors. He is twenty-four years old, has a wife and child to support, is studying law and is dependent on friends for support. His debts amount to $1,000. He says his share of the estate is worth $75,000.

W. J. Stephens, who appeared for the executors, said James M. Connor died in 1887, and that his will was probated at the time of his death.

ZELLA NICOLAUS'S SUIT.

Papers in the Gould Action Filed with Judge Lippincott.

The papers in the motion of Mrs. Zella Nicolaus, for a preliminary examination of George J. Gould before the trial of the case, were submitted to Judge Lippincott, in the Hudson County Court, Jersey City, by ex-Senator William L. Hoffman, on behalf of Zella, and R. V. Lindburg, of Elizabeth, of counsel.

There was no argument made before the judge and the papers submitted are being filed.

The defense objects to the examination on the ground that it is unnecessary, and that the law of New Jersey, which gives a judge the discretion of examining a party to a suit before the trial of a civil action takes place.

Judge Lippincott reserved decision.

Decision was reserved.

DEBATING WITH 'COIN'.

Roosevelt G. Horr and W. H. Harvey Enter Into a Money Talk.

To Test "Coin's Financial School" to Pieces.

Horr Says It Is Full of Errors and Devoid of Business Sense.

CHICAGO, July 16.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon Roosevelt G. Horr, of New York, and W. H. Harvey, of "Coin's Financial School" fame, began a debate on the money question.

The Illinois Club was filled with a select audience when the debate began. The judges were Charles H. Aldridge and Henry Miller.

It was agreed that each should outline the points to be covered in the arguments, and the following is Mr. Horr's opening statement:

"The question which we are about to discuss is not only receiving very great attention among the people of the United States, but it is one that is also receiving some attention from the nations of the Old World. The foundation of the discussion upon which we are about to enter is a small book published by Mr. Harvey, my opponent, and entitled 'Coin's Financial School'."

"The real aim and object of that book is to convince the people of the United States that this Government alone should control the money supply, and that it should do so by the issue of unlimited quantities of paper money."

"I will state in the outset that from the very beginning of the book there is hardly a proposition made to which I give my assent. I do not now remember ever to have examined a book so carefully in my life as this one."

"I do not believe that any one government can fix the value upon any two metals and name a ratio which will be accepted by the world. The value of money is determined by the market, and it is not the business of the government to interfere with it."

"I believe that our nation would adopt the course advocated in the book would be to the entire disadvantage of the United States. It would destroy the confidence of the business community, and it would precipitate a financial panic as our country has never known before."

"I will state further, that if this book about which we are going to debate is accepted by the government, it would be to the entire disadvantage of the United States. It would destroy the confidence of the business community, and it would precipitate a financial panic as our country has never known before."

"The following is Mr. Harvey's statement: 'I expect to make good, in this debate, the following propositions: 1. That silver and gold are the money of the world, and that the value of the dollar is the unit of value in our coinage. 2. That the gold standard is the only sound basis for a currency. 3.
